25-year sentence for beauty salon rapist

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A hairdresser was sentenced Thursday to 25 years in prison for robbery and sexual assault in a 1986 Granite City case.

Alexander Michael Traina, 45, of Melrose Park, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Edward C. Bergner yesterday for two counts of armed robbery and 25 years each for two counts of sexual assault, with the sentences to run concurrently.

Joyce Harris, the wife of then Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris, was one of the robbery victims at the hair salon. The sexual assault victim was an employee of the salon.

Traina now faces a 12-count indictment in St. Louis County for robbery, rape and sodomy at a hair salon in Crestwood.

Traina is serving six separate robberies and rapes in Wisconsin, Tennessee, Florida, Indiana and Georgia — all of them committed at beauty salons.

Police Chief Don Knight, who was a detective in 1986, was one of the investigators in the Granite City case. Knight said he doesn't believe Thursday's sentence was severe enough.

Traina could have been sentenced to 30 years on each of the sexual assault charges, and Knight said he should have received 60 years through consecutive sentences.

"The defense attorneys and the judges aren't at the crime scene," Knight said. "They don't see the tragedy."

Madison County Jail personnel testified that Traina had been a model prisoner during his three years as a jail prisoner. But Knight said that means nothing.

"There is no way to rob or rape inside the County Jail," Knight said.

He said he hoped St. Louis County authorities subpoena him and Sgt. Mike Chioschi to testify. He said Traina had confessed the Crestwood crime to him and Chioschi.

Traina was arrested in Cook County in March 1986 for a rape in Hoffmann Estates and was transferred to Madison County on warrants.

He became a suspect in the Granite City case after he had a hitchhiker in Alabama he had committed an armed robbery in Illinois. He was identified by the victims here, using a photo lineup.

Terms of the ordinance call for 20-year bonds to be issued to raise up to $550,000 for construction of a water system. The bonds would bear an interest rate not to exceed 12 percent a year.

The tax to retire the bonds would be levied on all taxable property within the proposed service area.

PONTOON BEACH — A public hearing will be held July 19 over a proposed Special Water Service Area in the village, to be paid for by the sale of bonds and the levying of a special tax.

An ordinance calling for the public hearing was passed unanimously June 12 by the village Board of Trustees.

Board President John Hamm on June 1 cited concerns voiced by people in the community as well as other board members about students' attire.

"We feel very strongly about discipline and we feel that one of the aspects leading to discipline and good behavior goes hand in hand with certain areas of dress code," said Madison Superintendent Dan Kostencik.

Problems with students' appearance were discussed briefly at that night's School Board meeting, but Kostencik stressed that the board has not taken any action yet.

"Some students have begun wearing hairstyles with graffiti cut into them," Kostencik said. He said some students have cut offensive words into their hair and that these hairstyles may tend to undermine discipline in the schools.

Hamm mentioned the prohibition on shorts and jogging clothes as rules that may be more strictly enforced.

Kostencik said he has not given any thought yet as to how the board should deal with the problem. "You've got me on a brand new issue and I haven't had time to think about it."

Nutrition challenge faces local leaders

GRANITE CITY — Although many people watch their pennies and utilize coupons and other price breakers when shopping for groceries these days, most have over $11 to spend on food for a family of four.

In order to see how meeting an $11 "nutrition challenge" is possible, Granite City will be shopping for groceries at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 19, at the National Supermarket, 3100 Madison Ave.

The $11 figure is the amount allowed participants of the federal Food Stamp program. With this amount, participants will try to buy enough to feed a family for four and also select nutritionally correct foods.

For many Americans receiving various forms of assistance, the elderly the young, the unemployed and the ill, this $11 limit is a harsh fact of life. Without such low level of assistance, many of them might not eat," a Cooperative Extension Service spokesman said.

The Extension staff will evaluate the purchases here to see if they are appropriate, not only in keeping purchases within the $11 limit but in choosing nutritional value as well.

Participating will be Von Dee Clegg, Granite City Mayor; Don Grabau, managing editor of East Side Publications; Bill Reker, WRYT Radio; Don Garretti, District 23 Madison County board member; Jerry Vigen, regional school superintendent; Marie Nelson, Madison County Housing Authority; Marilyn Delay, Coordinated Youth Services; Chuck Parr, Head Start; Peter Pomeroy, Lincoln Community Center; Howard Rogers and Sue Purrr, Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County; Bob Maxwell, manager of public relations and administrative affairs, Granite City Steel; Pat Giger, Public Aid, Project Chance; Arla Ault and Ola May, Madison County Home Makers Extension Association; George Cook, AFL/CIO community relations; Walter Hunter, Madison County Community Development; Dennis Kaminski, consumer and homemaking education program graduate.

Altharine Sands, University of Illinois Extension Program Council; James D. Oliver, associate director of urban programs, Cooperative Extension Service; and Roland Manthe, regional director, Cooperative Extension Service.

"The $11 challenge is part of a statewide effort to focus attention on the issue of nutrition, a particularly important one in Madison County and the Granite City area, and the need for increased knowledge of nutrition," the spokesman said.

According to the Illinois Hunger Coalition, food stamps only represent 52 percent of those eligible in Madison County.

The $11 amount was selected for the challenge because it is said to be sufficient to feed a family of four for one day in the U.S. Agriculture Department's Thrifty Food Plan.

In Madison County, according to 1989 census data, 10 percent of the population is categorized as living below the poverty level.

Organizations in Madison County that provide food assistance, such as the Glen-Ed Pantry, Protestant Welfare Operation, United C. Women, Infants, Children) and Operation Helping Hand, report increases of 20 percent to 50 percent in the number of calls from individuals requesting food assistance for the past year.

The $11 amount will be sufficient to feed a family of four for one day in the U.S. Agriculture Department's Thrifty Food Plan.

In a.m. Tuesday press conference will follow the shopping challenge to announce the results. The $11 challenge is sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service and National Supermarket.

Two local players on select squads

The Junior Olympic Development Program has announced that 15 boys — two from Granite City — from southern Illinois have been selected to play on the State of Illinois Select Soccer Teams at their respective age levels.

Matthew Little (13½) and J.B. Anderson (14½) of Granite City were among those selected in final tryouts at Illinois State University on June 9–11. Each of the 15 play on a select traveling team in the Southern Illinois Soccer League, which involves 18 counties. The players have been individually advanced through four levels of competition which began with more than 700 players from throughout Illinois.

The Illinois Youth Soccer Association sponsors a team at age groups from 13½ through 17½. These players will advance for university level training at regional camps in Ohio or Iowa while others will travel to play in 12 midwestern states. They will compete for a spot on the regional teams of their age group. Those teams typically compete at the national and international levels.

Miners

"Those are fun plays to watch," said DePew.

Wargo added another RBI double but Mueh's single made it more run at 2 in the eighth. Two errors started the inning and Scott Mueh's RBI single made it 13–9. A walk to Bill Luther loaded the bases and brought the tying run home. Bill went to replace LeVant with one out. Greg Johnson fled to the fence in left field, where Riley reached high for the catch and a sacrifice fly. Bowden got Reineck on strikes to end the inning, then allowed just a single in the ninth.

"I'll trade the run for an out in that situation anytime to help the team win," Bowen said of

• Legion

"I figured we could find a place in the lineup for Joe this year," Bowden said. "We're going to use him at first a few more times. Danny Partney can catch a little and getting Joe out from behind the plate will keep him fresher."

The Triplets had scored their first run in the second off of pitchers Kurt Hodges and Jim McKechnie. After Wallace's home run tied the game, Hill came on and retired the first 10 he faced until Arnold's one-out double in the ninth. But he fanned Ufer to end that inning.

There was a chance to win in the seventh when McKechnie led off with a bunt single. But Lignou popped up trying to bunt and Harshany fouled out after Wallace walked.

Jeff Stephens replaced McKechnie for defensive purposes in the eighth, and it was Stephens' infield hit which started the winning rally. This time Lignou got the bunt down. Schardan stuck the ball with his bat. Stephens to third before Wallace was intentionally walked. Harshany then hit the ground ball which Arnold messaged up.

Burnett knows one thing the team needs to work on is punting.

"We have to be fundamentally better than we are now," he said. "This is a good team, but we're not good enough that we can just stand up there and hit the ball every place every night. We have to move runners along and manufacture runs once in a while."

"I've watched Chad play since he was a little boy and I know he can get the ball down. If we can do those things, we can be awfully good."

Tom Senecyn got the win and Hill picked up the save in a 6–3 win at Highland on Thursday. In the eighth, Hill got three hits off of Kurt Ervin, who won nine games during the high school season and almost beat Edwardsville in the sectional. Post 113 broke a 2–2 tie with four runs in the fifth. They play Belleville on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Saugee.

The Optimists opened their Southern Baseball Association season with a 6–1 win at Fairview Heights on Thursday. They hosted Freebird in a double-header Saturday and Okawville comes to Varsity Field for a 7:30 p.m. game on Monday.
